Entries are now being welcomed to Waltham Forest Festival of Theatre 2007

Are you a member of an Adult or Youth Drama Group who would like to perform a short play (between 20 to 55minutes) at the Waltham Forest Festival of Theatre? We are now welcoming new entries from School Drama Departments and Drama Groups from across East London to take part in the 26th Waltham Forest annual Festival of short plays.

Following the closure of Chingford Assembly Hall for redevelopment, The Waltham Forest Festival of Theatre 2007 will take place at Waltham Forest Theatre, Lloyd Park, Walthamstow, London E17 4PP, a large 400 seat theatre venue.

The Waltham Forest Festival of Theatre is a week-long festival of plays performed by both adult and youth drama groups. It takes place in Waltham Forest each year. Now in its 26th year, it is the only Festival of Theatre in east London and the only Festival of Theatre in Greater London which offers a whole week of drama for all. This is an event for the whole community, anybody can take part regardless of age, race, gender, ability or experience and the plays can include music, dance mime and any other skills that the participants enjoy performing. Last year the Festival of Theatre saw 140 people participate on stage, with 66 of these people being under 18 years of age.

The Festival of Theatre will take place from Monday 19th March 2007 until Saturday 24th March 2007 – so start planning your Entry now!

The Waltham Forest Festival of Theatre is the biggest Festival of amateur theatre in London. Some of the participating groups return year after year because they appreciate “the spirit of harmony and co-operation” and every year new groups, who are taking part for the first time, are welcomed and supported.
